Laying the Foundations in Ontological Learning

We teach coaching like no other school and our graduates become extraordinary personal and executive coaches. However, not everybody who comes to Newfield wants to be a professional coach and many of our students are already certified coaches. For this group of people, Foundations in Ontological Learning, which forms the first half of our renowned Coach Certification Program, is a complete immersion into Ontological theory and experience.

As a result, the Foundations Course is ideal for leaders, managers, certified coaches, professionals, doctors, parents and so many more. It is also an ideal first step for those considering the full Coach Certification Program but who are not sure that they are ready to commit to the full journey. In the Foundations Course you will learn and apply the distinctions in Ontological Learning in your own life. It is therefore a rich journey of personal discovery.

The promises of the Foundations Course

- You will learn, practice and embody Newfield's Ontological Coaching models while studying how you see and experience the world around you. You study "the observer" that you have become.
- As a new observer of yourself and others, you will be able to transform ineffective habits of thinking, feeling and acting in both your personal and professional life.
- You will develop the skills needed to help others be more effective in their lives both as individuals and in teams.

Graduates of the Foundations Course are eligible for The Art and Practice of Ontological Mastery. These two courses taken together, or separately, make up the full Coach Certification Program and qualify participants to be certified as Newfield Certified Coaches and apply for ICF accreditation.

Study with masters

This course is led by a team of global experts each of whom specialise in their field. The training team is then supported by a select team of world-class global coaches who support our students in their learning and breakthroughs.

"The learning from Newfield changes the way I see things around me. I am learning the distinctions to recognise things that I have not consciously seen before. I like the holistic approach of Ontological Coaching - using language, moods, emotions and somatics... - the way we are, we walk, we talk and we feel. I can already see benefits in my work and personal life. I recommend it for anyone who wants to become a better leader, manager or coach".
